

A Two-day, Plein Air Pastel Workshop by National Parks Artist, Heidi A. Marshall.

This fun and informative workshop is all about painting-- en plein air, or painting in nature. We will focus on a variety of topics, including how to enter a painting, understanding the importance of value, the beauty of the medium, edges, where the landscapes blues up and becomes smoky, where it becomes more chromatic and other technical concerns. We will also focus on poetic matters. What draws your eye/soul to a particular view, what keeps the eye on the painting, the area of interest, and the beauty in all degrees of finish.

Heidi will offer two demonstrations and work with students in the round, so that every student (no matter the level) receives continual instruction. Materials list will be provided upon registration.

Oil and watercolor painters also welcome.

Paint with Heidi Marshall for one workshop or every month!
